DESCRIPTION
There is no right age to fall in love and there is no right age to have an active sexual life. Tant qu'il y aura l'amour is an un-sensationalist exploration of human sexual activity after sixty. Five elderly persons share their opinion and their point of view on the subject and a Sexology teacher tells us about the results of his studies on "sexual health after sixty". This video seeks to question our attitudes toward this subject, and give us a better understanding of our society and a more positive attitude toward sexuality and the elderly.
