DESCRIPTION

Documentary

Within twenty minutes, our senses are explored by the group Jazz Libre du Québec who present us with a cacophony of sounds and images through jazz. This video can be divided into three parts : the first consisting of street scenes, a tavern, and kids playing on the sidewalk; the second being a round-table discussion made up of the members of the Jazz Libre du Québec who see their music as a liberating force integral to the liberation struggles of the Québécois; and the third being a series of images illustrating a composition by the group.
