DESCRIPTION

This documentary is the result of a series of video creation workshops made in December 2020 in partnership with Dans la rue. Through this project, young participants of Dans la rue interviewed people experiencing homelessness about the consequences of the dismantling of the Notre-Dame camp which took place a few days before. These workshops were given by Simon Gaudreau and Marc- André Labonté and took place as part of Vidéographe's digital exploration and outreach program.
