ISLAND LYLE

DIRECTOR
Myriam Yates

DURATION
13:45

YEAR
2016

ORIGINAL LANGUAGE
No dialogue

CATEGORY
Documentary
Installation

DESCRIPTION
Fogo Island is an isolated place, although it’s contemporary studios for art residency programs aims to international artists are inscribed in the contemporary art world. Four contemporary architectures are scattered on this picturesque Island. Shot in the loneliness of winter and blowy weather, the camera alternates between interior shots of the geometric empty pavilions and exterior shots in the windy landscape. A young boy is wandering around, performing improvised martial arts gestures. The emptiness of the studios and the only figure in a combat position could be interpreted as the struggle tied to the creation process and it’s abstraction, or the struggle in an uncertain World. We may leave the Island with a strange feeling about what we encountered.

IMAGE FORMAT
16:9

SOUND
Stereo

SHOOTING FORMAT
HD

FURTHER INFORMATION

Island Lyle can be shown as a projection or as an installation.

KEYWORDS
Fogo Island, architecture, contemporary art, artist studio, winter

THEMES
Art and culture